Atheism, in general, the critique and denial of metaphysical beliefs in God or spiritual beings. As such, it is usually distinguished from theism, which affirms the reality of the divine and often seeks to demonstrate its existence. Atheism is also distinguished from agnosticism, which leaves open the question whether there is a god or not, professing to find the questions unanswered or ...

Actually the question is not quite as silly, or as impossible to answer, as all that. In common practice for loose-tube cables (there are other cable types), each tube has 12 color-coded fibers (except for "less than 12-fibers total" cables) and higher fiber count cables have multiple color-coded tubes, with fiber count stepped up in units of 12. So a 288 fiber cable will have two large units ...
