@Oscar, Keep in mind that programming languages (like natural languages) sometimes do not lend themselves to direct literal translation. In particular, things like using direct access to attributes (rather than getters and setters) is the right way to do it in Python even though it would be anathema in Java.

The example in Fig. 2 illustrates that Research emanates from at least one Question at Hand, and aims for at least one piece of New Knowledge. According to our definition (concept model), you cannot call something Research if it is not aiming for New Knowledge and does not emanate from a Question at Hand. This is the way we define the concept in concept modelling, and this small example only ...
